7 + Entrance Examination Sample Paper English

Total marks: 47
Time allowed: 45mins

Information for parents:

This sample paper has been created for children who are embarking on the 7+ exam. We recommend that these papers are only used 3 months prior to the exam.

The questions within the paper follow Level 3 of the National Curriculum, therefore we strongly advise that students younger than Year 2 do not attempt these papers.

The papers are designed to be challenging, and it is not expected that students will achieve full marks. Although the 7+ exams are highly competitive, it is important to remember that schools are likely to be looking for potential rather than 100% accuracy.

Should you wish for your child to prepare for the 7+ exam before Year 2, we suggest reading as much as possible with your child.

Summer Storm

The sky was a blue curtain, the sun shone brightly and the warm wind fanned the children who had been out all day on the common. Martha, Peter and Hugo were playing 'tag' near the café. The grass was still slippery from yesterday's downpour so they stuck to the concrete paths, near the bandstand, which had dried out in the heat. Martha was 'it' and the boys were swarming around her like wasps around a sweet soft drink. Each time she almost caught them, they danced away from her grasp. She was feeling frustrated.

"Children, 'time-out!'" cried Granny Finn from her place on the bench facing the bandstand.

The children immediately froze, they were standing statues, they looked like petrified people from Pompeii. Granny Finn clapped her gloved hands and the children skipped to the bench to sit beside her. Granny Finn was their mother's mother and they adored her. She always gave them treacle toffees and soft mints.

Something that looked like an overweight black cat sat on her lap. Opening her large leather bag, she removed her gloves and popped them inside. "I expect you are thirsty, we have Rose's Lime Juice at home," she announced, "I smell rain and it's time for cucumber sandwiches with the crusts cut off and a cup of Twinning's tea that I get from 'Fortnum and Masons'. They have none of these at the café and I suggest we leave before the cloudburst." "Can we have a Coke at the café, please, Granny Finn?" asked Hugo, he fluttered his eyes pleadingly.

"Certainly not, Hugo Finn-Stanley, you know such a suggestion is out of the question."

Granny Finn rose from the bench and as she did so dark clouds rolled in overhead and a fork of lightning sparked in the sky, big blobs of rain splattered on the concrete, turning the paths the colour of lead. There was a thunderclap. Slowly, Granny Finn ambled down the path, like the Pied Piper, with the children following behind. They did not complain about the rain soaking their summer sandals and she did not say: 'I told you so.'
