Educational Assessment

Example of a persuasive writing task

Members of your local community are campaigning to stop the sale of junk food to children under twelve years of age. They want fast food outlets and shops to stop selling junk food to children unless they are with an adult.

STOP!!! the sale of junk food to under-12s

SUPPORT OUR CAMPAIGN

Shindent Bounty.com

Is it a good idea to stop selling junk food to children under twelve?

You have been asked to write an article to present a young person's point of view about this campaign.

Here are some things to think about before you start your planning:

NO

YES

- children like to eat junk food
- shopkeepers will not be able to check the age of every child

- junk food is unhealthy
- parents should check what their children eat

In your writing you should clearly argue your point of view. You should provide reasons to support your argument. Include some of your own ideas as well.

Your writing should convince readers to agree with you.

HINTS

- Use the planning time to organise your ideas.
- Stay on the topic: Is it a good idea to stop selling junk food to children under twelve?
- Begin with an introduction that tells the reader your point of view and finish with a conclusion that sums up your arguments.
- Write in paragraphs.
- Write in sentences that are correct and varied.
- Pay attention to spelling and punctuation.
- Use the time at the end of the task to check and improve your writing.
