The olympics. For years peeph people have marvelled at this fantastic sporting occasion. Especially the younger generation!

I think the 2012 London olympics will be one of the greatest events in London's history. It is a chance to show off all our countries talent and glory. To the rest of the global community. This will a massive opportunity to show the rest of the world what sporting talent we have especially the younger generation who have great potential to become world champions.

The younger generation in particular will enjoy the olympics. Because it will be great fun to take part and spectate all the ceremonies and events. The younger generation are also looking to be ~~ent~~ entertained and I hope the olympics will suggest that. It will also help to bring the young people and their communities together across the world. The olympics will also help to show and get more people interested in different types of sport. ~~Also~~ Also the olympics gives a young sportsperson a goal to achieve in life.

The olympics will also bring in huge revenue. This will help fund the young generations sport programmes, such as: new sports equipment, new facilities, better and more advanced training opportunities. This will give the younger generation in our country a huge advantage because they will be provided with better facilities and equipment.

However the olympics will cause some problems and safety concerns. For example the olympic games might become a target for terrorists and crime. Which could potentially endanger the lives of ~~thousands~~ thousands of people. We are also putting a large amount of money into the olympic games, which could be risky if we do not receive enough revenue from the Games.

Overall however i think the olympic games will truly benefit the younger generation and help them to become well aware of the marvel, that is the olympics.
