

One character in mice and men who is a very angry person is Curley because he is always trying to start fights with Lennie because he doesn't like big and tall people because he is quite small 'He slashed at Lennie' this shows us that he is a very violent character because slashed is a very strong word and sounds like what a knife would do and also it says 'smashed down his nose with a right' this is again a very angry phrase because of the word smashed which sound like he broke his nose ~~and~~ into thousands of pieces. Also in the fight scene Lennie gets angry because of Curley beating up so 'his ~~elbow~~ fist was lost in Lennie's big hand.' This shows that even the most same people like Lennie can slip and because Lennie is so angry he crushes his hand and causing real pain to Curley.

Crooks also gets angry when Lennie enters his room because he doesn't like the fact that Lennie has got George and he hasn't got one friend because they say he's black and he smells, so Crooks makes Lennie feel how he feels. 'S'pose he gets killed or hurt so he can't come back.' This tells me that Crooks is very lonely and angry because he hasn't got anyone so he makes Lennie feel how he feels.

Also Curley's wife is a very lonely and angry character because all she wants is a friend so she tries and flirts with people so she can talk to people, but when Crooks tells her to leave Lennie alone she gets very angry, 'listen, Nigger... You know what I can do to you if you open your trap?' This <sup>tells</sup> shows me that she also likes to be the boss because she likes to control people because she Curley wife. Overall Anger is very important because it shows that the most ~~times~~ of the people are unhappy because they want a better life or something changed or don't like someone and because they're not living the American dream.
