

Thursday 6 June 2013 – Afternoon

GCSE LAW

B142/02 Civil Courts and Civil Processes. Civil Liberties and Human Rights

* B 1 2 5 5 9 0 6 1 3 *

Candidates answer on the Question Paper.

OCR supplied materials:

None

Other materials required:

None

Duration: 1 hour

Candidate forename					Candidate surname
--------------------	--	--	--	--	-------------------	--	--	--	--

Centre number						Candidate number
---------------	--	--	--	--	--	------------------	--	--	--

INSTRUCTIONS TO CANDIDATES

- Write your name, centre number and candidate number in the boxes above. Please write clearly and in capital letters.
- Use black ink. HB pencil may be used for graphs and diagrams only.
- Answer all the questions.
- Read each question carefully. Make sure you know what you have to do before starting your answer.
- Write your answer to each question in the space provided. Additional paper may be used if necessary but you must clearly show your candidate number, centre number and question number(s).
- Do not write in the bar codes.

INFORMATION FOR CANDIDATES

- The number of marks is given in brackets [ ] at the end of each question or part question.
- The total number of marks for this paper is 60.
- This document consists of 20 pages. Any blank pages are indicated.

- 1 Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) is any method of resolving a dispute without going to court. There are a number of types of ADR which range in formality.

Demonstrate your knowledge of ADR by completing the sentences using the correct missing words from the list below.

- Conciliation
- Mediation
- Arbitration
- Negotiation

The first type of ADR is used in disputes where it helps if the third party who is assisting the settlement has some expertise in the area of law concerned. A good example is where this method is used to resolve disputes between employers and employees. This form of ADR is known as .....

The second and most formal type of ADR is different from the others in that the courts can enforce the outcome decided by the decision-maker. Many professional organisations provide this type of service to resolve disputes between their members and customers who use their services. An example might be the Association of British Travel Agents (ABTA) or the Federation of Master Builders (FMB). This type of ADR is known as .....

The third type of ADR involves the use of a third party to help the parties try and find some common ground and resolve their dispute. This may range from informal services providing services for divorcing couples, such as Relate, or more formal services providing commercial dispute resolution services, such as the Centre for Dispute Resolution. These services are known collectively as .....

[3]

2

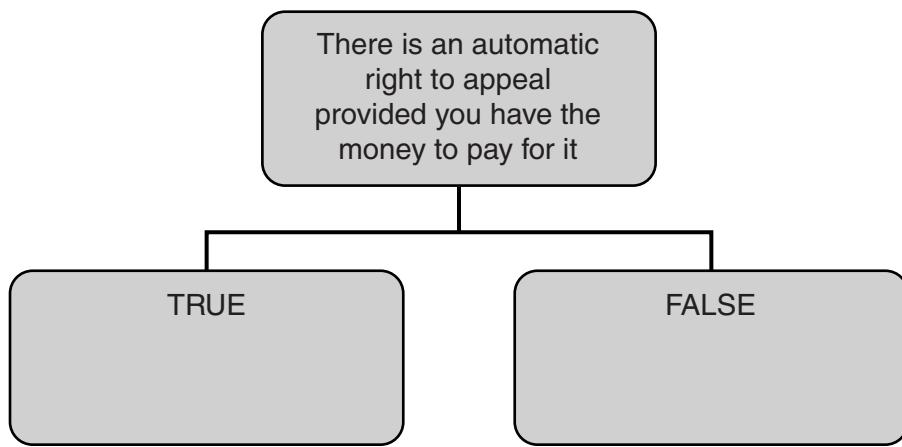

In summer 2011 the Justice Minister announced a £20 million cut in the legal aid budget. He said he wants a “simpler justice system”. Many people object as they think it will deny access to justice. However, one of the ways the Justice Minister thinks the cuts can be made is by using more Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR). This highlights one of the advantages of ADR which is that it costs less than using the courts.

Discuss the other advantages and disadvantages of ADR.

- [6]

- 3 Identify whether the following statement about civil appeals is true or false. Show your answer with a tick (✓).

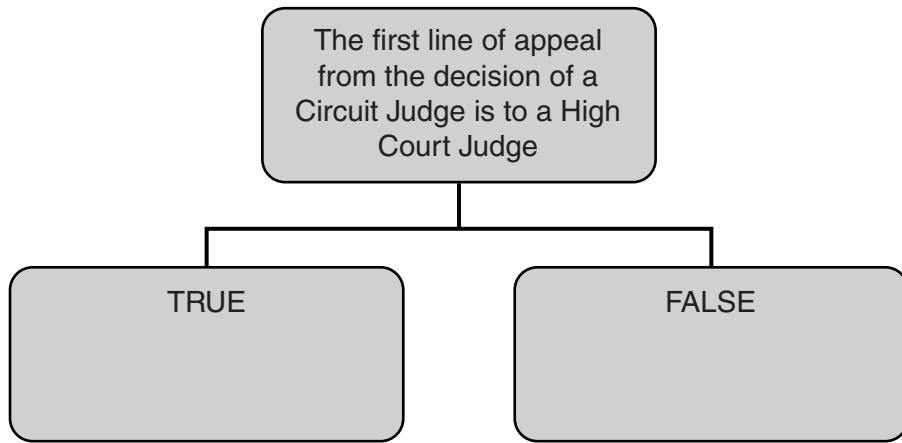

[1]

- 4 Identify whether the following statement about civil appeals is true or false. Show your answer with a tick (✓).

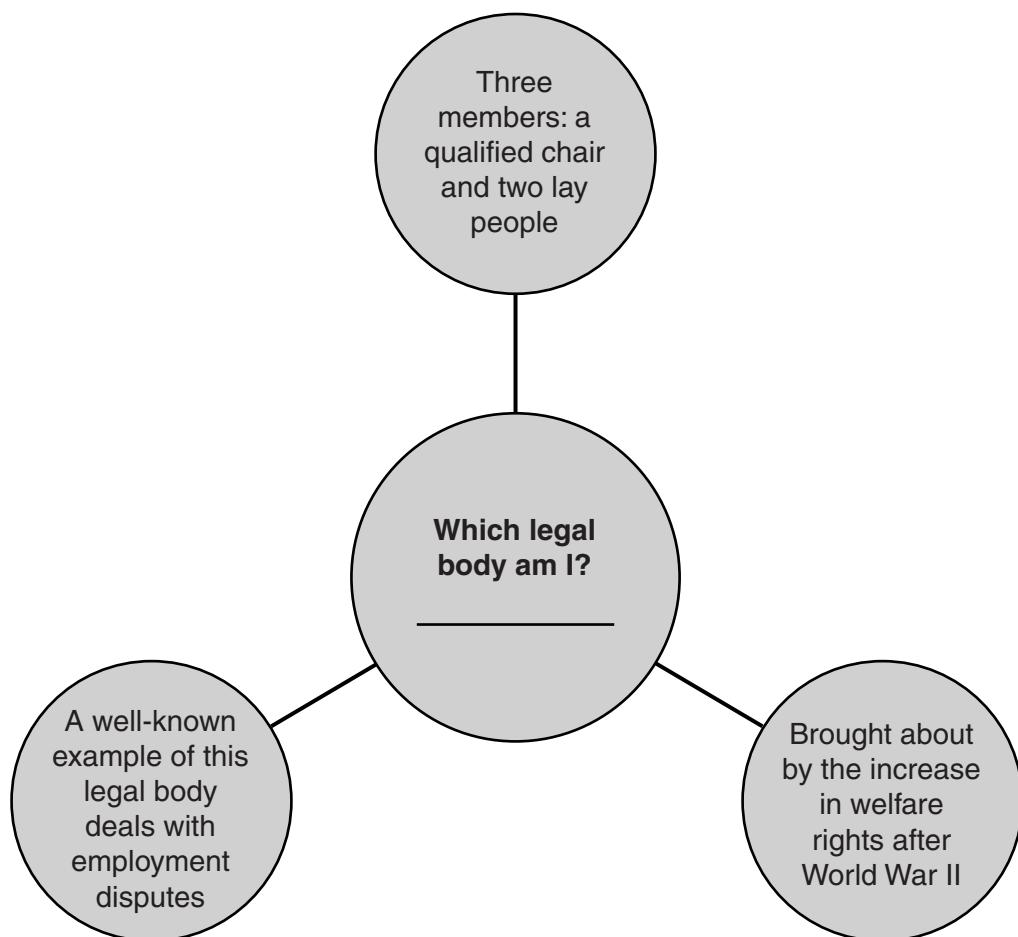

[1]

- 5 Identify whether the following statement about civil appeals is true or false. Show your answer with a tick (✓).

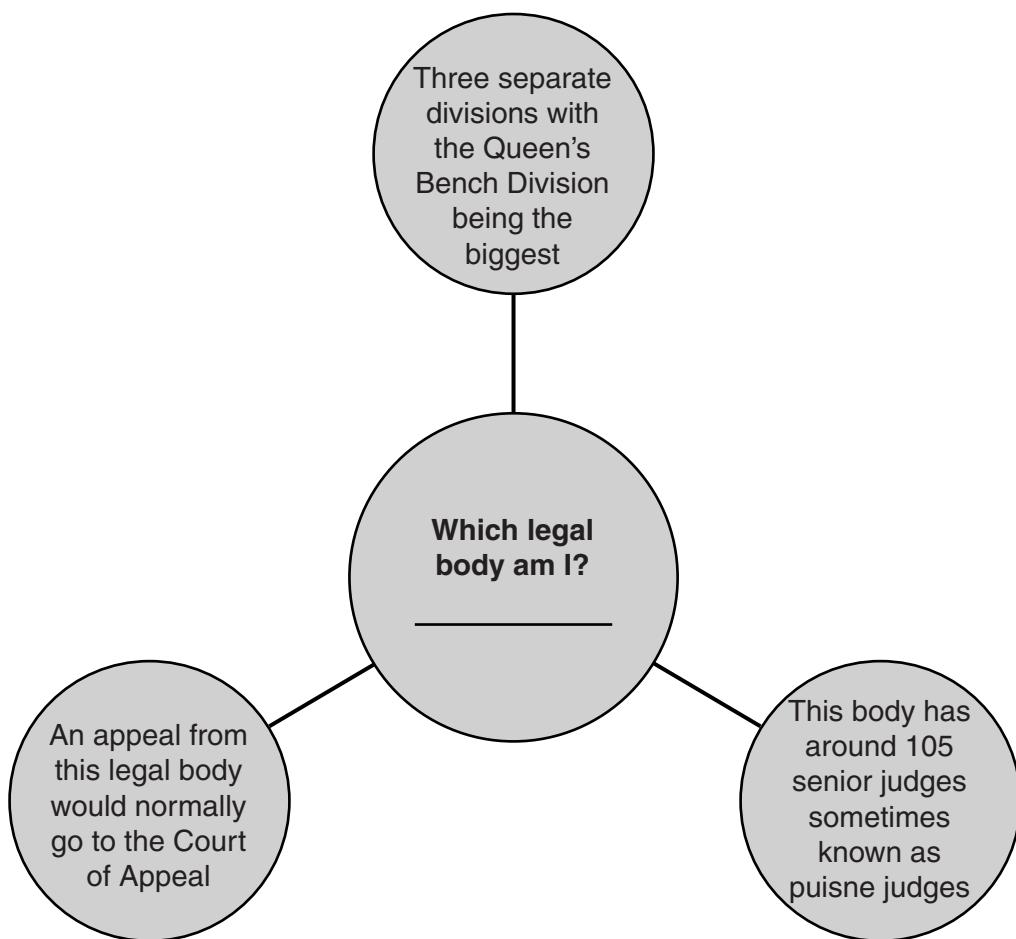

[1]

- 6 Using the clues in the outer circles state which legal body is being described. Write your answer in the central circle below.

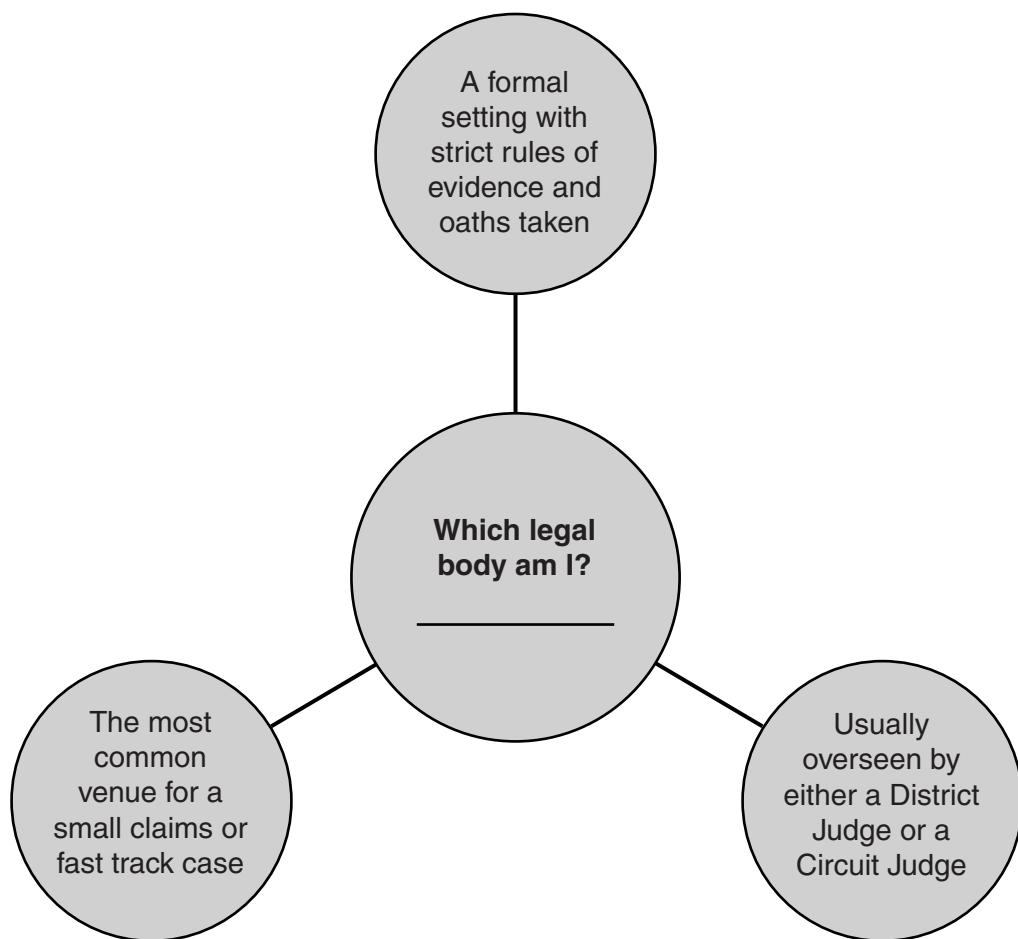

- 7 Using the clues in the outer circles state which legal body is being described. Write your answer in the central circle below.

[1]

- 8 Using the clues in the outer circles state which legal body is being described. Write your answer in the central circle below.

[1]

- 9 The judges of England and Wales are arranged in a hierarchy in order of seniority. Using your knowledge of judges draw a line to indicate their position in the judicial hierarchy.

Highest

1

Circuit Judge

2

The Justices of the Supreme Court

3

High Court Judge

4

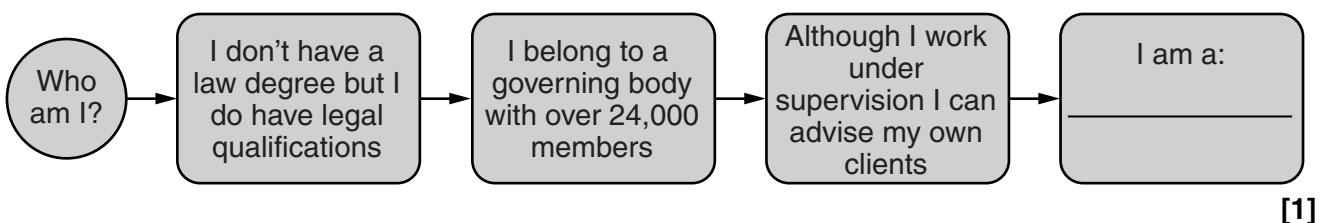

Appeal Court Judge

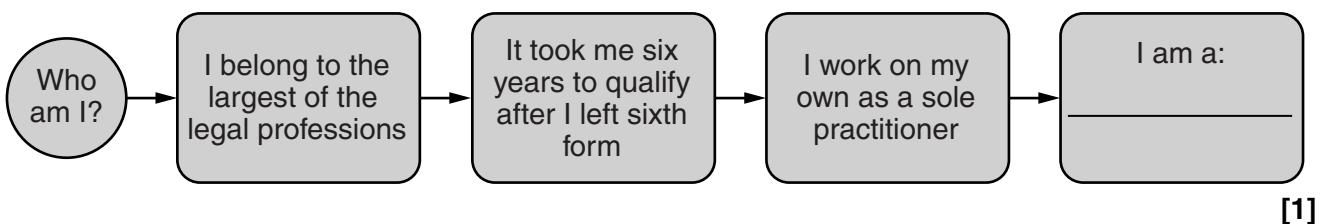

Lowest

[4]

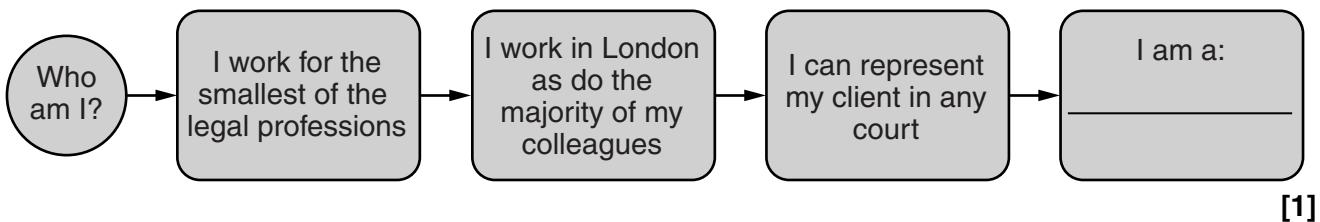

- 10 Show your understanding of the legal professions by writing the correct answer in the final blank box.

- 11 Show your understanding of the legal professions by writing the correct answer in the final blank box.

- 12 Show your understanding of the legal professions by writing the correct answer in the final blank box.

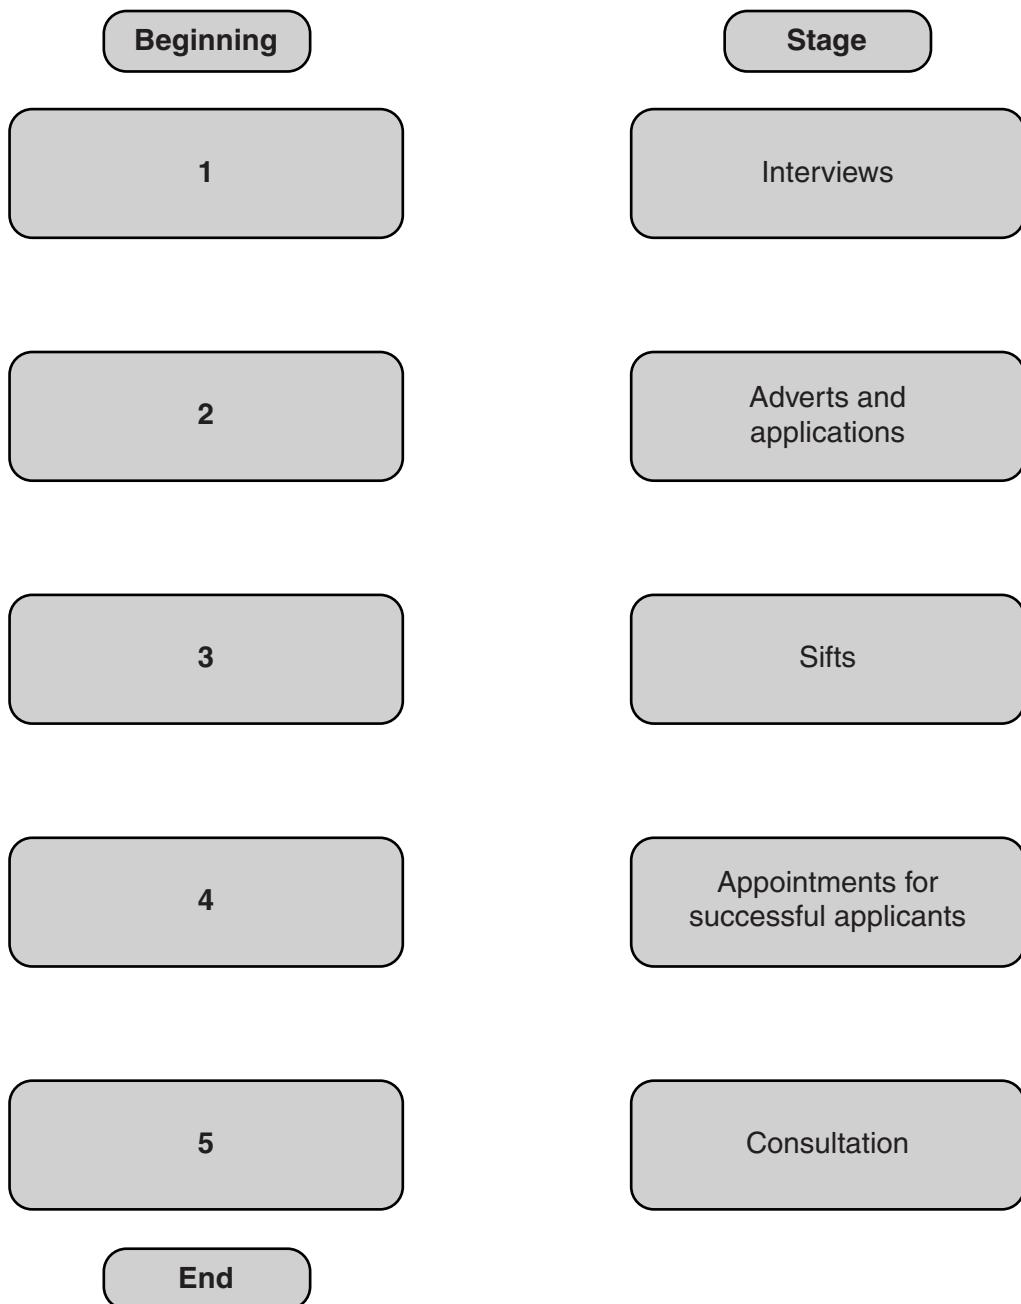

- 13 One of the criticisms of the legal professions is that although women are now well represented at entry level, there are still too few women at the senior levels of the profession. This suggests that there are still barriers to equality.

Discuss two other criticisms associated with the legal professions.

[6]

- 14 Using your knowledge of judicial appointments, draw a line to indicate the correct position of each stage in the process.

[5]

- 15 Consider the following statements about the legal professions and use your knowledge to indicate with a tick (✓) whether each statement is true or false.

	Statement	True	False
i	The governing body of the solicitors' profession is the General Council of the Bar
ii	A barrister may need to eat formal dinners at the Inns of Court as part of their training
iii	A legal executive can never appear in a court or advise clients
iv	A barrister has to get a special advocacy qualification if they want to appear in the higher courts
v	Solicitors and barristers will need to do continuing professional development throughout their practising career

[5]

- 16 Which one Article of the Human Rights Act 1998 were each of the following cases brought under? Use a tick (✓) to show your answers in the table provided. [3]

Case 1

In the case of Quila v Secretary of State for the Home Department [2009] EWHC 3189, the UK Supreme Court decided that a government ban on non-EU foreign wives/husbands under the age of 21 coming into the UK was unlawful. The ban would have meant that a foreign wife/husband from outside the EU would not be able to join their partner until reaching the age of 21. The measure was designed to help avoid forced marriages.

Amber Aguilar, a UK citizen, and her husband, Diego, from Chile, were under 21 when the rule was introduced and Diego was not allowed to stay with his wife once his student visa had expired.

Case 2

In the case of Eweida v British Airways Plc [2010] EWCA Civ 80, Nadia Eweida, a devout practising Christian who worked part-time as a member of check-in staff for British Airways was sent home when she insisted on wearing a cross visibly. This was in breach of her employer's uniform policy. The Court of Appeal upheld an Employment Tribunal finding that she did not suffer indirect discrimination. The Supreme Court refused to hear her appeal and so Miss Eweida took her case to the European Court of Human Rights.

Case 3

In the case of Castle v Commissioner of Police [2011] EWHC 2317, the court ruled that Adam Castle, his sister Rosie and Sam Eaton had not had their human rights infringed when they were 'kettled' during the student loan protests in November 2010. Kettling is the police tactic of 'containment' where people are gathered together and held because the police fear a breach of the peace.

The court felt that the tactic was necessary and proportionate and did not infringe anyone's human rights.

Articles	Case 1	Case 2	Case 3
Freedom of peaceful assembly and association
The right to respect for private and family life
The right to liberty apart from lawful arrest
The right to a fair trial
The right not to suffer torture or degrading treatment
The freedom of thought, conscience and religion
The right to life

- 17 A number of basic freedoms are protected outside of the Human Rights Act 1998. Two of these freedoms are stated below.

Describe each freedom.

Freedom 1: freedom of information

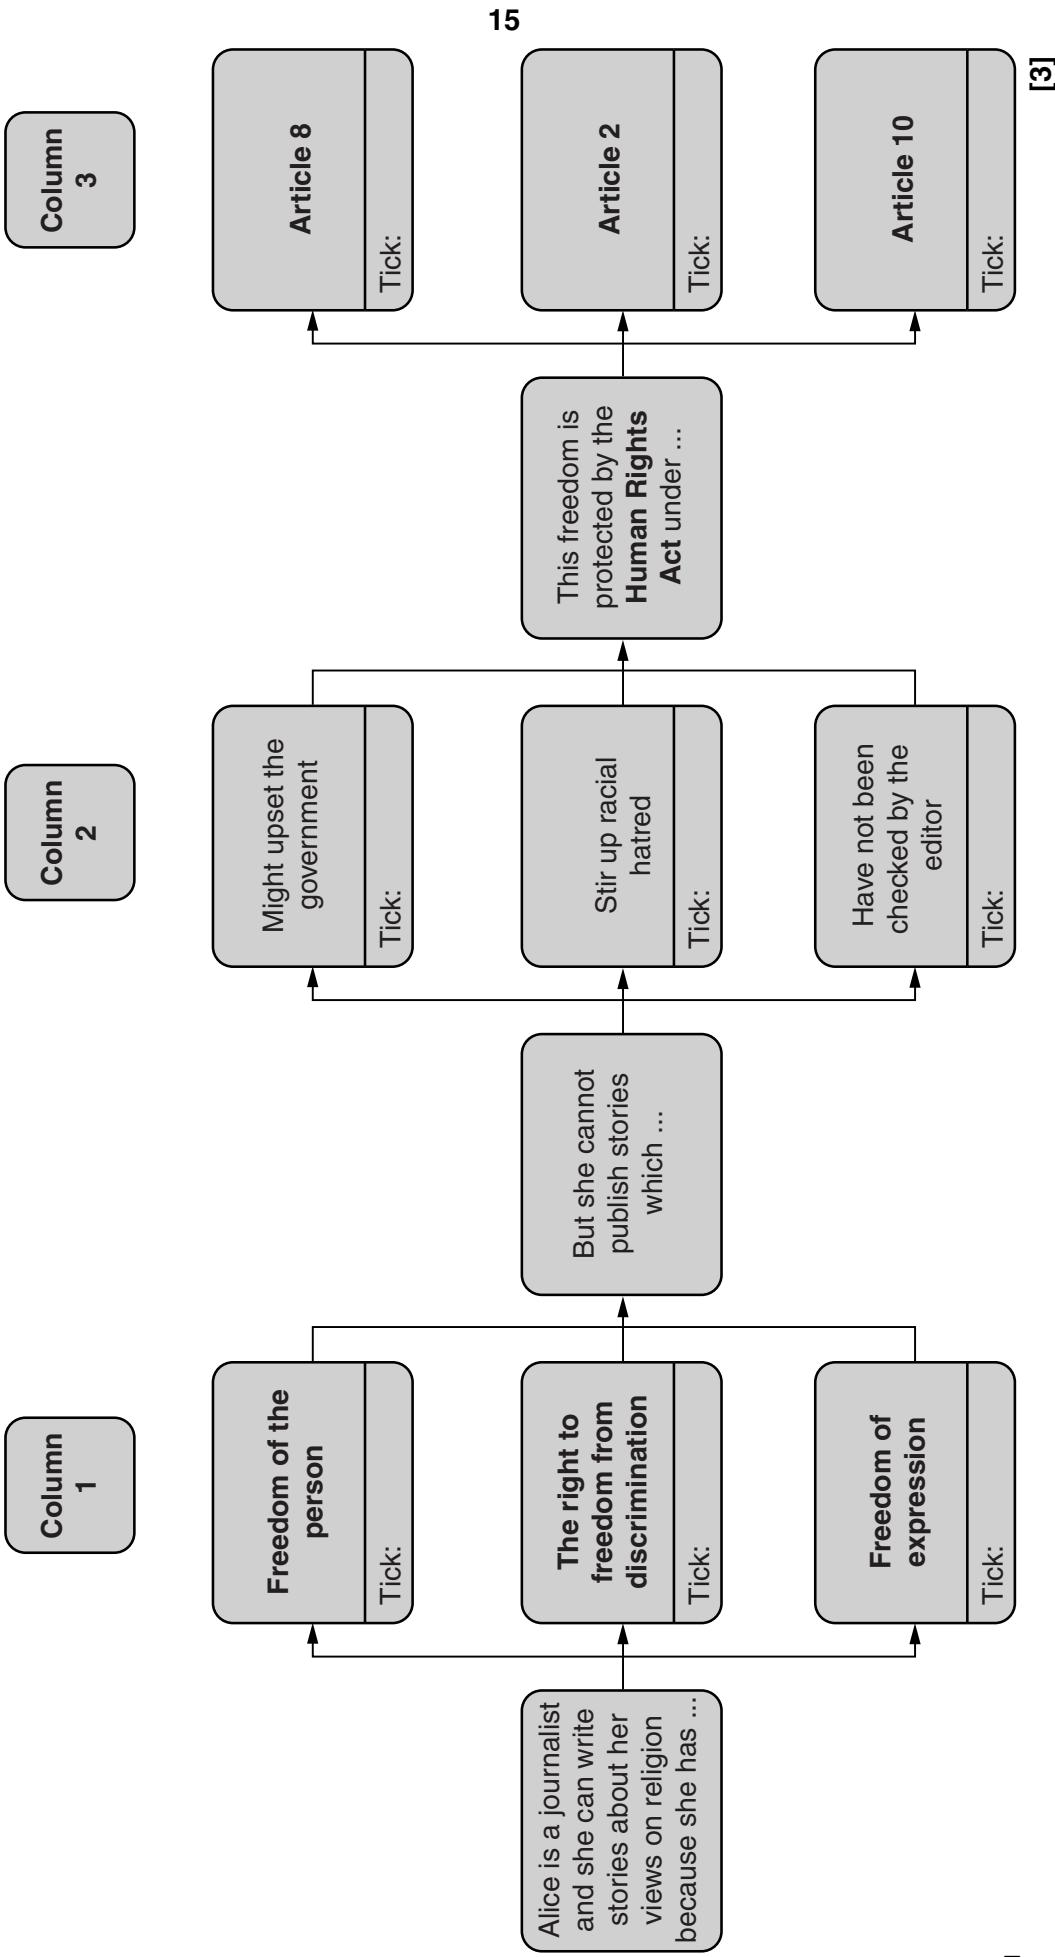

.....
.....
.....

Freedom 2: freedom of thought, conscience and religion

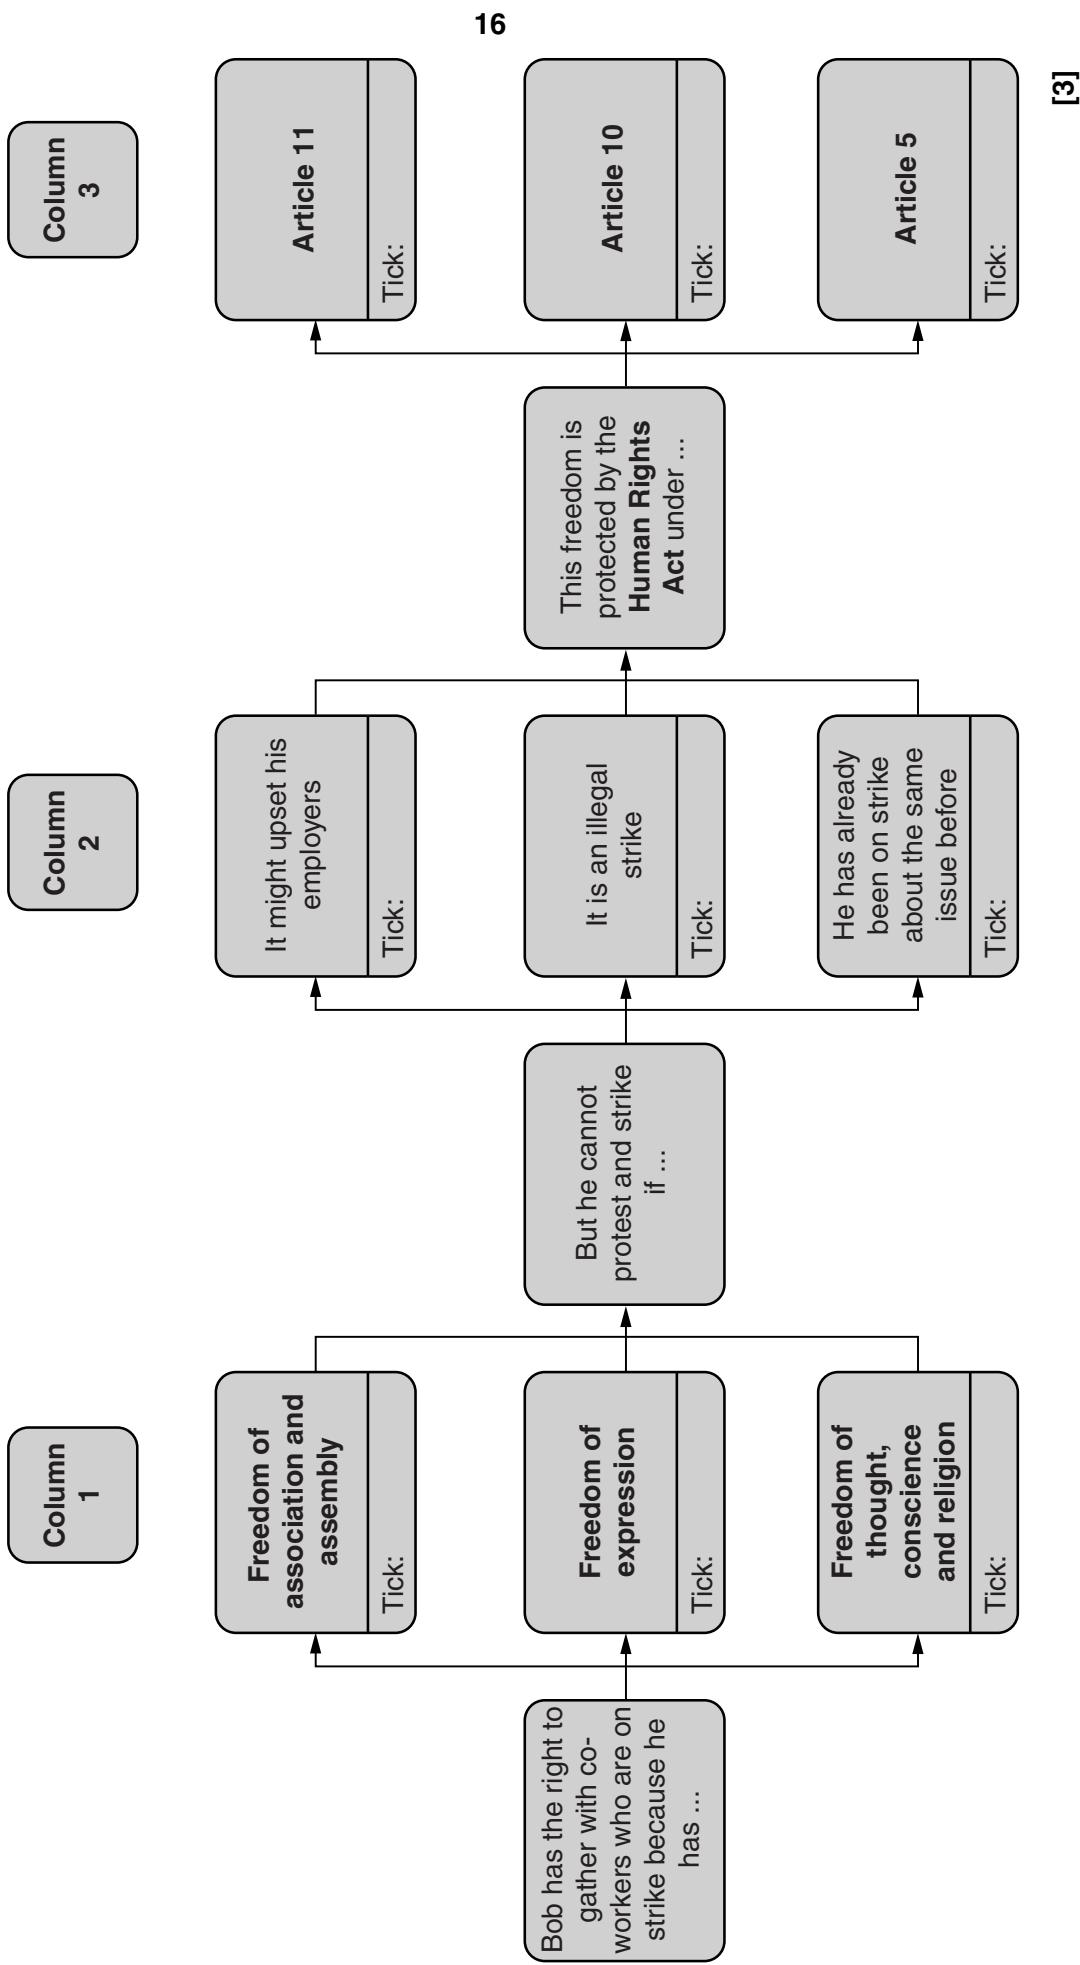

.....
.....
.....

[4]

- 18 Show your understanding of the freedoms and restrictions which would be most likely to apply to Alice by indicating your answers with a tick () in each of the three columns.

- 19 Show your understanding of the freedoms and restrictions which would be most likely to apply to Bob by indicating your answers with a tick (✓) in each of the three columns.

- 20 Show your understanding of the freedoms and restrictions which would be most likely to apply to Charlie by indicating your answers with a tick (✓) in each of the three columns.

- 21 In October 2011 Theresa May gave a speech to the Conservative Party Conference in which she referred to an illegal immigrant who could not be deported because he had a pet cat and this had helped him establish a right to a private and family life under the Human Rights Act 1998.

The story later proved to be untrue but is one of a number of similar stories spread by people who are critical of human rights law and would like to see the Human Rights Act 1998 removed or replaced.

Discuss the arguments for and against keeping the Human Rights Act 1998.

[6]

END OF QUESTION PAPER

PLEASE DO NOT WRITE ON THIS PAGE

PLEASE DO NOT WRITE ON THIS PAGE

Copyright Information

OCR is committed to seeking permission to reproduce all third-party content that it uses in its assessment materials. OCR has attempted to identify and contact all copyright holders whose work is used in this paper. To avoid the issue of disclosure of answer-related information to candidates, all copyright acknowledgements are reproduced in the OCR Copyright Acknowledgements Booklet. This is produced for each series of examinations and is freely available to download from our public website (www.ocr.org.uk) after the live examination series.

If OCR has unwittingly failed to correctly acknowledge or clear any third-party content in this assessment material, OCR will be happy to correct its mistake at the earliest possible opportunity.

For queries or further information please contact the Copyright Team, First Floor, 9 Hills Road, Cambridge CB2 1GE.

OCR is part of the Cambridge Assessment Group; Cambridge Assessment is the brand name of University of Cambridge Local Examinations Syndicate (UCLES), which is itself a department of the University of Cambridge.