(iii)	Add up the ticks to give a mark out of 10 for Communication.
(iv)	For COMMUNICATION, be tolerant of time frames and minor hiragana, katakana and kanji errors, provided they are written clearly enough to be understood.
(v)	LISTS = a maximum of 3 marks for communication: lists of $1-3$ items = 1 mark; lists of 4 items = 2 marks; lists of $5-6$ items = 3 marks
(vi)	Only reward each piece of information once, e.g. «she is nice» cannot score both as description and reason for liking («she is nice» and «her music is great» can both be rewarded).

Note on using mark schemes with Grade descriptors

It is important that you award marks positively. In order to ensure that you reward achievement rather than penalise failure or omissions, you should start at the bottom of the mark scheme and work upwards through the descriptors when awarding marks.

You should adopt a 'best fit' approach. You must select the set of descriptors provided in the mark scheme that most closely describes the quality of the work being marked. As you work upwards through the mark scheme, you will eventually arrive at a set of descriptors that fits the candidate's performance. When you reach this point, you should always then check the descriptors in the band above to confirm whether or not there is just enough evidence to award a mark in the higher band.

For example, when marking Question 3 you may find that a candidate uses a variety of relevant vocabulary but has varied success with more complex structures. In such cases, you will need to award a mark that takes into account both the strengths and weaknesses of the piece of work.

To select the most appropriate mark within each set of descriptors, use the following guidance:

- If most of the descriptors fit the piece (and after you have considered the band above), award the top mark in the band.
- If there is just enough evidence (and you had perhaps been considering the band below), award the lowest mark in the band.

Note on irrelevant material

In the case of a deliberately evasive answer which consists entirely of irrelevant material exploited in defiance of the rubric, a score of 0 is given. These are extremely rare. The genuine attempt to answer the question which fails due to a misunderstanding of the rubric will normally lose Communication marks but will score for Language. You should consult your Team Leader.

When part of an answer is clearly irrelevant, highlight it and do not consider it when deciding on the Language mark. (e.g. Highlight and do not consider for Language an introduction to a question consisting of an unwanted self-portrait on the lines of: 「こんにちは。私の名前はXです。十六才です。Xに住んでいます。」 or letter etiquette where a letter is not required.)
