Section B

You should spend about one hour on this section.

Use information and ideas from Passage Two only in this answer.

10. Imagine that your best friend is jealous because his or her younger brother or sister has been offered an excellent job. Your friend, however, who really wants a job, has not managed to get one.

Referring only to Passage Two, write a letter to your friend in which you:

- explain what jealousy is/give examples of it
- talk about the dangers of jealousy and
- give advice about what he or she should do to feel better.

Use your own words as far as possible. You will lose marks for direct copying. Do not write more than 220 words in the main body of your letter.
