4. Study the information below and then answer the questions which follow.

In 2004, Lek Kosciewicz and his wife Anna arrived in Scotland and set up home in Edinburgh. Before moving to Scotland, Lek worked as a firefighter and Anna as a nurse. In Scotland, Lek took a job as a firefighter and Anna retrained and was employed as an ICT consultant where she earned 25% more than a Scottish nurse. In 2008, Anna found that she earned 30% more than a nurse. Despite this, Anna's salary does not seem to go as far as it did in 2004.

Anna Kosciewicz

A black and white illustration of a firefighter. The firefighter is wearing a hard hat and a dark uniform with a name tag that reads "LEK". He is holding a large axe over his shoulder with both hands. The style is a detailed line drawing.

- (a) (i) Suggest 2 economic reasons why Lek and Anna decided to move to Scotland.

(ii) Describe 2 benefits to the Scottish economy of Lek and Anna's decision to move.

(b) Identify and describe the types of mobility of labour indicated in the passage.

(c) Suggest reasons why the gap between salaries of ICT consultants and nurses has widened.

(d) Suggest reasons why Anna's salary in 2008 does not seem to go as far as it did in 2004.

6. Study the passage below and then answer the questions which follow.

Early in 2008, the Scottish Parliament confirmed the building of 2 wave farms off the west coast of Scotland in a bid to increase green energy production. The farms, the first of their kind in the world, are expected to produce energy for up to 25 years. Produced in Glasgow, massive turbines floating on the waves and resting on the sea bed will be used to generate power. A Government spokesperson highlighted the economic benefits of the scheme. Protestors lobbied parliament stating that the scheme would not only have social costs but would be disastrous to tourism and prove to be the final blow to an already struggling fishing fleet.

- (a) From the passage, identify an example of an industry in each sector of production, stating clearly the sector to which each belongs. 3
- (b) Suggest and explain possible “... economic benefits of the scheme” to the Scottish economy. 6
- (c) (i) Suggest and explain one possible “social cost” of the scheme.
(ii) Explain in more detail, the possible economic costs of the scheme to the Scottish economy. 2
